PASTORAL PONDERINGS

We all face difficult moments of darkness and anxiety when things can become difficult. We may be disappointed with life and lose hope. During these challenging times, hope can also be misunderstood. We may think that it is having a positive attitude or being optimistic. We may place our hope in things of this world thinking they will bring us happiness.

Pope Francis reminds us that true hope is not built on human words or assurances, but on God's word and His promise of salvation and eternal life. The Easter season is a time to reflect on the effects of Jesus' resurrection; the opening of heaven for humanity. It is a time of joy. It can also be a good time to reflect on the true nature of hope.

On first appearance it might seem that hope is the least important of the theological virtues. Love, it seems, is far greater. Saint Paul tells us that love is the greatest of virtues, and that those who "have not love" are nothing but "a resounding gong or a clanging cymbal," and that those who "have faith can move mountains, but have not love are nothing." Faith also seems to be greater than hope. Even faith as small as a mustard seed can move mighty mountains.

Hope can be described as an unshakable trust and assurance that the promises of God will be fulfilled. This trust is based on what he has done for us in his son Jesus, through his death and resurrection. Like faith, it is not a human attitude or opinion, but it is a gift of the Holy Spirit.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church describes the true nature and meaning of the virtue of hope. It states, "Hope is the theological virtue by which we desire the kingdom of heaven and eternal life as our happiness, placing our trust in Christ's promise and relying not on our own strength but on the help of the grace of the Holy Spirit." (CCC1817)

God has placed in each of our hearts the desire and longing for true happiness. The virtue of hope responds to this innermost desire and helps us to place our trust in God.

The catechism of the Catholic Church describes the work and function of hope. It states "this virtue takes up the hopes that inspire men's activities and purifies them so as to order them to the Kingdom of heaven; it keeps man from discouragement; it sustains him during times of abandonment; it opens up his heart in expectation of eternal beatitude. Buoyed up by hope, he is preserved from selfishness and led to the happiness that flows from charity." (CCC1818)

We need this hope today! Divisions within the country and even divisions within the church can drain us. Like a dried-out sponge that needs water to fill its sponge like nature, we crave a nourishment that will energize us and make us new. We need faith and hope in the Lord. The divisions we experience surely please the evil one, and they lead to the exact opposite of what Christ wants for us. They lead to hopelessness. Hopeless people are desperate. They're desperate for anything to make them feel good, they will follow anyone, or try any new trend to make them feel whole and alive.

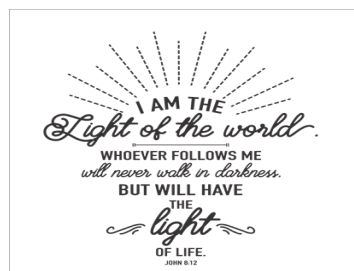

Through experience, we know that sometimes these worldly things make us happy, but for only a short time. The satisfaction we feel will soon end. We begin to say to ourselves: "Something is missing," or "there must be more than this."

There is, and it is Jesus! Only hope in Jesus will sustain us. Only hope in Jesus will make us whole. Only hope in Jesus will pick us up after we've been knocked down to the ground. Only a hope in Jesus will change us and allow us to persevere in these trying times.

Instead of looking at the world with dismay and sadness, search the world for its potential. Create good. Effect change. And never give up hope, for as Christ taught us: "I came into the world as light, so that everyone who believes in me might not remain in darkness." Darkness leads to hopelessness. But Christ is our hope. Let us never doubt this truth.

God bless you and your family.

Deacon Paul Vidmar
